

Membership that works for your business.

Representing a united voice for our industry, Timber Queensland works on behalf of our members to protect the future of our forests and the sustainability, operations and profitability of our industry and environment.

From tangible benefits like personalised advice on industry issues affecting your business and access to technical timber support, to education programs, workforce development initiatives and learnings from other forest and timber leaders, a Timber Queensland membership is designed to help your business thrive.

STRONGER TOGETHER Growing a sustainable future

In today's rapidly evolving business and regulatory environment, staying informed and having timely access to critical information is essential. As the peak state body for the forest and timber industry, Timber Queensland represents your interests by contributing to the development of policies, standards, and regulations. With high-level input to Ministers and Departments, we advocate for the supply chain and promote the benefits of using timber for building and construction.

Becoming a member goes beyond the technical advice and industry insights that will help you grow today. It means joining a united network and amplifying Timber Queensland's voice as we champion a successful and sustainable future for our industry so our members can thrive tomorrow.
